3rd Annual Women in Dentistry Symposium

Friday, November 19, 2010

Changing demographics in the dental profession have more female dental students graduating than men. In 1979, fewer than 2% of working dentists in the United States were women. By the year 2000, women represented approximately 40% of U.S. dental students. This year, over 60% of the University of Michigan dental grads are women.

Women dentists face the same challenges that all dentists face, and a few more that are uniquely theirs. This program is about supporting each other and building on self confidence in our business and personal lives.

Join other women in dentistry for a day of celebration and sisterhood!
